1 A house or an apartment you want to live in in the future

Well, the house I want to live in in the future would be a two-floor villa with a big back yard.

For one, it should have just the right amount of rooms for me and my family to live and entertain. On the first floor, there should be a big living room, so that I can put nice sofa where I can lie comfortably when watching movies and my favorite programs. Also, I need a spacious kitchen to put a stove, an oven and a dishwasher. Cabinets with simple design will also be the highlight of my kitchen. Then, on the second floor, there will be our bedrooms and bathrooms. I would love to put a bathtub in every bathroom, so that I can take a bath anytime I want, especially in the winter.

Another feature of my dream house would be the yard. You know, I've always wanted a yard with well-cut lawn, and it will be made into a perfect place for me to chill out. For example, I want to put a 2-person tent on the corner of the yard, and I can do some reading or some work there peacefully. Also, I can hold some family parties there. It will have enough space for people to sit or stand, and walk around chatting. What a lively life I can live in such a house.

So, that's the house I want to live in in the future.

2 Describe the sky you looked at, in the day time or at night

Speaking of the sky I enjoyed looking at was the one I saw last Sunday.

You know, that was a sunny day and the sky looked so beautiful. At that time, I just woke up and opened the curtains, then the sunlight shined right into my room and I looked up to see the sky. There was no wind, so the big white clouds were floating in the blue sky, looking like delicious marshmallows. I think I even saw a piece of cloud that looked like a cat. Also, some lovely birds flew up from the right side of my visual field, and they were lovely.

Other than that, the bright sky in the daytime made me feel very cheerful. Firstly I must talk about the sunshine, it gives the whole world a very warm tone and seeing them shine on my bed made me so satisfied. Also, in the daytime, the sky was light blue, and the air looked crystal clear, which gave me a peaceful feeling. Then I took a deep breath and stretched up a little and started my day with a fresh mind.

So, that was a sky I once looked at.

3 Describe a special product in the region you come from & A souvenir you brought home from another place/a holiday

Well, the special product in the region I come from would be Qing Bu Liang. It's a kind of a desert in the summertime, and I really love it.

Firstly, it is made with various ingredients. They are all regional and seasonal, so it will be very organic and healthy. Usually people put sweet potatoes, dates, adzuki beans and sago in it. We boil all these ingredients up, and then let them chill for a while, mix them together and finally pour a lot of coconut milk in it. We can eat it hot or cold, but personally I prefer to have the cold one with a lot of ice cubes, because it tastes the best that way.

What is worth mentioning is that, nowadays some people even make this a can food that can be sold in a supermarket. Last time I was waiting for my flight back to Beijing in my hometown's airport, and I walked around the shops nearby. Then I found this dessert in a nice package. The instruction of it said that it had the boiled ingredients and seasoned coconut milk packed up in vacuum bags separately. When we want to eat it, just cut them open and mix them together. It was really convenient and I bought one right away, so that I could enjoy it later in Beijing.

So, that it is a special food product in the region I come from.

4 Describe a piece of important news you got from text message & Describe a situation when you celebrate your achievement

Well, a piece of important news I got from text message was the one that informed me I passed my college entrance exam with a very high score.

The memory of the day was very unforgettable. First, we all knew that we were going to get that message that day, and I was waiting for it nervously at home with my parents. At 2 o'clock in the afternoon, we got the message saying that I got 822 in total in the exam and that was a pretty high score in my hometown. My parents and I were so excited and then we decided to go for a celebration dinner in our favorite restaurant.

During the dinner, my parents just couldn't stop smiling. They called my grandparents, uncles and aunts, and read this message to them over and over again. I could feel that they were all very proud of me. Also, we discussed the college Choice. With this score, I could definitely get the offer from my dream university. You know, it was so amazing that a text message could totally change the day and make so many people so happy.

So, that was the piece of important news I got from text message.

5 Describe an article you read from the internet or books about healthy life

Well, the article I read about healthy life online would be the one that my parents sent to me via wechat. They saw this in some sort of fitness subscription.

Firstly, the cover of this article really shocked me. The picture it used as the cover was full of green vegetables and all kinds of fruits, nowadays this kind of articles all use this type of pictures. And this article had a very shocking title. It said that, “Shocking ! If you eat these vegetables right, they can save your life”. Then when I clicked into the article, I could see very clearly that is used so many red bold exclamation marks, which looked pretty cheesy.

However, the content of this article was actually pretty normal. It was just talking about that if we can eat a certain amount of vegetables, they can provide us with a lot of useful vitamins and micro elements, so that our eyes and other organs can be better protected. Also, it strongly recommended young people not to sleep too late, so that we can live a longer life. It seemed that my parents were really worried about me, but this kind of articles was just so exaggerative.

So, that was the article I read about healthy life.

6 Describe an interesting animal you saw & A toy you had in your childhood

Well, the interesting animal I would like to talk about is definitely my cat.
I've been keeping him for 7 years now with my parents.

The first thing I like about it is that it has a lovely appearance. You know, it's fluffy and has white fur, which is also very soft, so when I pat him, I always feel very satisfied. Also, because he likes eating a lot, so he is pretty fat right now, looking like a balloon. But, even though his body is fat, he has a tiny little tail which is pretty short, this comparison makes him look even funnier.

Another thing I love about him is his companion. At night, when I go to bed, I often lie right next to him and pat him gently until I fall asleep. And he often stares at me with his big round eyes, sometimes asking for some delicious can food and sometimes just pretending to be good and cute. What's more, I like to talk to him, tell him that he is adorable, he is the most handsome cat in the world and sometimes I even talk to him about my feelings that day. He is a really good listener.

So, cats are the animal I find interesting and I just love them.

7. An indoor game you did with your friends in your childhood

A game that I liked to play with my friends when I was little was role-play. And we mostly played it in my home.

Before we played the game, we usually needed to set up that day's characters. Like, if today we are playing a fake family, we need to decide who is the mother, who is the father and who are the children. Then, we would need some tools, for example, if I am the mother, I need to prepare the apron and a pair of high heels. At last, we would gather around at the time we agreed in advance, and start to use the tone we learnt from our parents to play the game.

During the game, we had several sections. Firstly, they had to pretend to be sleeping, and I, the mother, should wake them up. And then I would cook breakfast for them. For this part, I usually just gave them some snacks in my home. Then, the children pretended to go to school and come back real quick, and they would start to ask me questions in their homework. During this time, their “father” would come home from work with the lunch or dinner he bought from a restaurant. Next, we sat together, enjoyed the meal and had some family talk.

Well, we really had a lot of fun doing this role play game in the childhood.
